Hi, Neighbors!

John Hayden, CPN President

Happy April to all! As spring gets into full swing with events happening and people out and about in the neighborhood we will have a meeting focused on fun things to do this Summer in Five Points. Come hear about the RiNo Bike Race - an event which is will be more of a festival than a race. The event organizer will attend the April meeting to share what we can expect. Right here in Curtis Park we have a community event Park RX, that will happen April 23rd from 3:00 pm to 5:00 pm in Mestizo Curtis Park. This event will feature historic walking tours of the neighborhood, Zumba in the park, spring cleaning for the park, music and healthy food among other park activities.

To ensure we have safe and accessible places to walk we will also hear about neighborhood efforts to save our flagstone sidewalks and about the cities efforts to reduce traffic deaths to zero in Denver through their vision zero campaign. So come learn about a spring and summer full of fun in Five Points at the April Curtis Park Neighbors meeting.

Neighborhood Cultural Spotlight: The Black American West Museum

John Hayden

As Denver’s oldest intact neighborhood, Curtis Park has many historic sites we may walk by every day in our busy lives and not give much thought to the important role they play in shaping our community and preserving the history of Denver. One such neighborhood landmark is the Black American West Museum. Located at 3091 California Street, the Museum is housed in a beautiful historic Victorian home that once belonged to Dr. Justina Ford, the first African American female doctor in Denver. Justina’s home was originally located in the 2300 block of Arapahoe where she ran her doctors office out of the first floor rooms for the diverse, largely immigrant people of Five Points.

Justina spoke seven languages and would take payment in whatever form her patients could afford. When the home was threatened with demolition for a parking lot, the building was saved and moved to its current location on California Street where it found new life as the Black American West Museum. The Museum, open Fridays and Saturdays 10:00 am to 2:00 pm, highlights the role of African American’s in early Western American history. It’s a vitally important piece of our neighborhood’s history. So please walk over and visit the museum and learn a little about the place you live and share it with others. That is how we preserve our history and build culture over time.

Maggie Miller

It’s springtime and you may be thinking about your yard. Do you have holes to dig, rocks to move, weeds to pull, flowers to plant? You may a) like to do all of the work yourself, or b) perhaps you have a full-service landscape company.

However, if you have yard work to do but don’t like options “a” or “b,” pick up the phone and call 303-292-4115, or go to www.centrohumanitario.org!

If you call Centro Humanitario, you will probably talk to Sandra, and she will explain how it works. In brief, Centro Humanitario is a nonprofit organization that places day laborers with people who need help moving, gardening, painting, housecleaning, etc. Rates are $12-$17/hour for most things, and $20-$30/hour for housekeeping; there’s a four-hour minimum. And these guys (and women) do good work!

Spring Fling Tea

Hugh & Lynne Brown

All neighbors are invited to the re-scheduled St. Valentine’s Tea, (now the Spring Fling Tea), an informal neighborhood gathering. All Curtis Park neighbors, from long time to new, are welcome at the home of Hugh and Lynne Brown. Sunday, April 9th, 2:00 - 4:30 pm at 2903 Champa Street. Children are especially welcome. (This is your invitation - individual invitations will not be re-delivered.)

Montessori Education

Have you ever wondered about our neighborhood Montessori school? The Montessori Academy of Colorado is a metropolitan school that engages each child in innovative academics, exploration of character, and a fearless, forward mindset. Our Elementary program is a progressive Montessori environment that serves children 1st through 6th grade. Students engage in reading, writing, art, music, Spanish, athletics, and technology daily while also participating in our Artists in Residence Program and weekly going-outs. These experiential explorations allow them to engage with various businesses and cultural events around the city that further their social, emotional and intellectual growth. Students also partner with local nonprofits as part of their monthly service learning projects, allowing our young students to collaborate with the community at large. The Montessori Academy of Colorado is now accepting Elementary applications! Give us a call at 303-623-2609 or visit www.montessoriacademyofcolorado.org
Is a Garage and Carriage House In Your Future?

Mick Barnhardt

This is a continuing article from March’s newsletter exploring the possibility of building an Accessory Dwelling Unit (ADU), aka carriage house, behind your home in Curtis Park. Last week’s article was an introduction to the process which included what our local landmarking designation and zoning will require in your design.

The first thing you should know is that only single family homes are allowed to build ADUs. That means if you have a duplex or row house, you would not be eligible.

Our typical lots here in Curtis Park are 25’ wide. The carriage house will require a minimum 3’ side setback from your neighboring property line and a 5’ setback from the alley is common. The 5’ rear setback allows for a comfortable apron from which you can get a proper turn radius to park your car in the garage on the main level. The 3’ side setback allows you to place windows on the side. If your lot is 30’ wide or less, the 3’ side setback applies. If, however your property is wider than 30’, you’re required to have 5’ side setbacks.

The first step you’ll need to take in the design process is to hire a surveyor and have a pin-survey done on your property. This process will place permanent pins in all four corners of your property so that you can identify exactly where your property is located. Along with the pins, you’ll get a detailed site plan that will provide exact width, length, and elevation at key points. These surveys cost anywhere between $800 and $1200.

I recommend hiring an architect or a clever contractor to design your building and take it through the design review process. Be prepared for this process to take months.

Chalk Art Festival at Cole

DSST: Cole Campus will have a campus wide Chalk Art Festival on Saturday, April 15 from 11:00 am - 2:00 pm. Advisory groups will compete for the “best” art, and there will be food, a bounce house, and music. The event is open to the public, and we would love future and prospective students to get a chance to meet current students, teachers, and administrators to get to know the school. The school choice window for DPS schools opened March 20th, and we would love to share our rigorous academic preparatory program, close-knit community, and technology focus with interested families in a casual, fun setting.

Denver Vision Zero Action Plan

Do you think cars drive too fast down your street or know of a sidewalk blind spot where cars cannot see you? Maybe you know a place where the bike lane could use more protection from traffic or does not connect through to your destination? Crash data only tells one side of the story, and we want to hear from Denver residents where they think our streets can be made safer. Denver residents and visitors are encouraged to visit denvergov.org/visionzero to take the map-based survey, select the location of their feedback, and add it to the map before April 30th, 2017. Responses from the Vision Zero map-based survey will be used collectively by the city’s Vision Zero Technical Advisory Committee to identify patterns in behavior and street design to help set priorities for the Vision Zero Action Plan.
